Scholastic In Canyon District Show Increase

The annual census of children within the scholastic age shows a slight increase over that of 1949, according to the record of Lee R. Foster.

The census has been completed, with the indication that no additional buildings will be needed in Canyon in the immediate future. Children who will reach the age of six years by the time school opens in September number 99, which is only a slight increase over the number enrolled last year.

Although there is an increase in the district for the year, Mr. Foster indicated that at least six will transfer to Umbarger and at least 20 to the Amarillo district.

Starting September 1st, the Canyon Independent School District will take over the management of the West Texas training school. The average daily attendance in the two schools now number approximately 1000 students.

Dr. J. A. Hill To Make Final Talk To Teachers Thursday

Dr. J. A. Hill will be guest speaker at the final meeting of the Randall County Unit of TSTA, April 13. He will discuss phases of the United Nation's work.

Dr. Hill, who served as a newspaper reporter, was admitted to the sessions of United Nations and has a first-hand knowledge of his subject.

The meeting will be held in the Branding Iron Theater on the WTSC campus at 7:30 p. m. James E. Miller, vice-president, in charge of programs, will preside. Members of the FTA are especially invited as well as citizens of Canyon who are interested.

The business session will include the adoption of a constitution with Miss Darthula Walker reporting for the committee; the consideration of a project for the organization with Miss Jean Moore reporting for that committee; and the election of officers, with Ray Schultz presenting nominations for the committee.

Dr. Ruth Lowes, president of the unit says, "Let me urge each member and friend of the unit to attend this final meeting of the year. Each one should be especially interested in the work to be done. Dr. Hill's address will give an intimate glimpse into the plans of the United Nations that no one will care to miss."

Windmobile Of Friona Passed Canyon Thursday

Three fellows from Friona created a considerable amount of excitement in this area Thursday by rigging up a windmobile and setting sail from that fair city for Amarillo.

The outfit was a sail boat mounted on an extended car chasis, with three wheels and a steering outfit.

The News was called before the boat reached Canyon, but no one knew just what it was all about, and the dry-land sailors did not halt as the contraption kept to the highway, making about 35 miles per hour.

The wind was blowing a stiff breeze until the machine reached to within four miles of Amarillo. Here the wind died down and the machine stopped.

Ray Landrum, Raymond Euler and Ralph Smith were operators of the outfit.

Oldtimers were reminded that in the very early days, long before the days of the automobile and paved highway, a couple of enterprising fellows over at Hereford rigged up a sail-buggy and started across country. The two reached Claude before the wind sagged and the buggy stopped.

Three Community Sign Boards Are Up on Highways

Sponsored by the V. F. W. of Canyon, three sign boards have been erected on the three highways leading into Canyon.

The boards were built by a Lubbock sign board concern, which is under contract to keep the boards in good repair for the coming year. After one year the boards will be repainted and business firms which have signs on the boards may renew their contracts.

Those who have seen the boards are well pleased with the attractiveness of the boards. It is the first time that a community effort has been made in securing adequate sign boards on the highways.

League Meet To Bring Many High Schools To W. T.

Competition in the District 1A Interscholastic League will get underway Friday, April 14 on the campus of West Texas State College. Friday events will be the beginning of tennis and volleyball. These two will move over into the second day before completions and will be added to by the field and track and all literary events.

Schools participating in the contests are Dalhart, Phillips, Perryton, Dumas, Canyon and Hereford.

Following is a list of the events scheduled for the two-day meet: Tennis in both boys and girls and in singles and doubles, volleyball, debate, declamation, both senior and junior and boys and girls; extemporaneous speaking, ready writers, number sense, slide rule, typewriting, shorthand, journalism, one-act plays and all track and field events.

Boone McClure, instructor at West Texas State, is the director of the Interscholastic League.

Displaced Three Arrive to Make Home in Canyon

At eight-thirty p.m. Friday, Dr. Ples Harper came home from his trip to New Orleans to meet the family of Eduards Paegle (pronounced (Pah-eg-ly), the gift of the old world to the new. The family consists of the father, the mother, and a thirteen-year-old son, Roland. At present they are housed in Barrack 75, west of the Buffalo Stadium. Soon they will have a house in the vicinity.

According to Dr. Harper, this family is a unit of the 700 homeless people coming through New Orleans to scattered homes in America. All are guaranteed work in the U.S.A., some bound for Arizona, some for California, others for intermediate points. Three hundred were disembarked in South America; two hundred more went on to New York.

All have been assured work somewhere and have been carefully screened for the expected place. Mr. Paegle began work on the campus Monday; the son entered the Demonstration school Tuesday. The mother, who has been a teacher of French and Latin in a school of Latvia, is busy improving her acquaintance with the English language.

The Council of Church Women has supplied the immediate need of the family, homeless for eleven long years. Many people have already contributed; but, since pay day is nearly a month ahead, other needs demand ready cash.

People desiring to further this laudable enterprise may contribute to any one of the six committee members: Mrs. Ruth Gidden, Miss Moss Richardson, Mrs. Joseph Findley, Dr. Ples Harper, Marion Higdon, or C. R. Burrows. Checks may also be turned in at the bank without your seeing a member of the committee. All money will be deposited in the First National Bank in an account under the name Displaced Persons Committee. It will be subject to checking from Dr. Harper, treasurer of the Committee. Make out your checks to that committee. Don't wait to be called on.

Not all the money will be used by this one family. Dr. R. A. Neblett expects a group in the near future, and John McGehee of Wayside will shortly receive a man and his wife.

People who met Mr. Paegle and his family at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, and at the Baptist Church Sunday night are highly pleased with them and believe they will be a blessing to Canyon and Canyon to them.

Mrs. Stuart Condron Unhurt In Car Wreck Last Week

On Friday afternoon of last week, Mrs. Stuart Condron, Jr., and daughter, Jan, were returning from her mother's home and were a few miles northeast of Canyon when the radius rod on the car broke causing it to turn over three times. Mrs. Condron crawled out through the shattered windshield, and neither she nor Jan were hurt other than a few cuts and bruises. The car was completely demolished.

The two were brought to Neblett Hospital where they were checked and released.

Mrs. J. M. White, Mrs. Clyde Warwick, Misses Pauline Brigham and Helen White Moore spent the weekend in Dallas.

Max Bellah was home over Sunday from Austin where he is a student in the University of Texas.

Building Gets Increase With More Permits

Canyon's building permits for 1950 received a big increase during the past week due to construction which is underway.

Permits for the month so far totaled $631,350.

In the list of permits are $433,000 for the new gymnasium and chapel on the campus of West Texas State College; $154,200 for the Consumers elevator, new cafe building and new floral shop; $39,250 new residences; $4,700 for garages and additions to homes.

City Secretary E. T. Cummings states that since the appeal was made recently in The News for citizens to take out building permits on their construction that several have come in for these permits. It is also indicated that citizens are being more careful in making a correct estimate on their construction before starting construction. Mr. Cummings urges that all who are doing construction work and have not yet taken our building permits should do so at once in order to make a better construction record for Canyon.

The new city commission met Thursday with the outgoing city officials and took over the reins of office for the coming two years.

Retiring Mayor W. A. Warren with Commissioners G. A. Farlow and Lee Johnson spent two hours going over all details of the city's affairs with the new commission and advised with them as to the work that confronted them in the future.

City Secretary E. T. Cummings administered the oath of office to members of the new commission, Andy Walsh, Mayor, W. O. Parker and Herschel Coffee, commissioners.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pool and daughter, Susie, of Vaughn, New Mexico, spent the weekend in the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Max Barnard.

A week end guest here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Chandler was Mrs. A. E. Davis of Lubbock.

20 Boys Working For Premiums at the News Office

More than 20 boys have started in the premium campaign to get subscriptions to the Canyon News.

Joe Marlin Winstead was the first to win a premium. Joe came in Saturday morning to sign up for the contest and by noon brought in ten subscriptions to get a Daisy B B Gun. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Winstead.

Every day boys have been taking up the premiums which they have won.

Other boys working for premiums of radios, roller skates, chemistry sets, fielder mitts and rods and reels. A display of these premiums was placed in the west window of the News office last Wednesday after the paper went to the postiffice, and has been creating much interest among the contestants.

Citizens of Canyon should receive the boys kindly who are working for these premiums. They are intensely interested in getting a favorite premium and should be encouraged.

Wheat Group Is Organized Under the Farm Bureau

The Wheat Committee of the Randall County Farm Bureau completed the necessary organization for participation in the program of the Texas Wheat Producers Association at a meeting Monday afternoon.

Travis Payne was elected chairman of the county group. C. B. Erwin was chosen as Randall County Director for the State Association. The County director serves as voting delegate for the county on the Board of Directors of the State Association. W. T. Smoot was elected alternate delegate.

The program of the recently organized Texas Wheat Producers Association is now being worked out and includes work in research to find more outlets for wheat, as well as to promote expanded markets within the area of existing outlets.

The county groups will cooperate with the State Association in planning programs and in securing support of wheat producers.

Treasure Hunt For the Palo Duro Park Will Officially Open on April 21st

Opening of the Treasure Hunt in Palo Duro State Park has been set for Friday afternoon, April 21, stated John McCarty Tuesday night.

"Queen for the Day" will be selected on the radio show on April 20, and will be flown to Amarillo for the big opening.

Coins will be dropped from a plane before the Treasure Hunt starts, and more coins will be dropped in the Park throughout the summer.

The rules are changed this year so that persons who wish to register their coins may do so and will not be required to be at the drawings when the prizes are given.

Mr. McCarty stated that he had more than 774 beautiful gifts which have been contributed by the business firms of Canyon and Amarillo. Due to the short time before the Treasure Hunt starts, he hopes that all who have not given prizes will call him at once in order to get on the list.

"With only a week to go before the official opening, we have a huge job ahead, and I hope to get the full co-operation of the people of Canyon in helping publicize this wonderful Park which means so much to the people of Canyon," stated Mr. McCarty.

Grass Fires Kept Fire Boys on Jump

Five grass fires Sunday and two on Monday kept the Fire Department on the jump. No great damage was don in these fires.

Canyon News Office To Be Closed for Panhandle Press Association Meet

The Canyon News force will take a two days vacation this week end. The office and plant will be closed all day Friday and Saturday in order that all members of the force may attend the 41st Annual Convention of the Panhandle Press Association.

This will be the first convention in about 26 years when members of the force will have no worries at the Amarillo meeting place, and will be free to have a good time. The publisher of The News retired from the job of Secretary last year after having imposed upon members of the force during the past years in keeping the convention running.

Thanks for your consideration. Please call the News office Thursday afternoon if you have any business to transact here as you will not find any of us around Friday or Saturday.

Receipts at P. O. Continues Showing Gains

Postal receipts increased in Canyon during the past quarter. The increase was only $221.49, but this indicates a healthy growth in government business.

Receipts for the first quarter of 1950 went to $8,043.74, as compared with $7,822.25 in 1949.

It was pointed out by Assistant Postmaster Dewey Foster that this gain was obtained without benefit of free city delivery. The total for 1949 was $37,240.52, which lacked only $2,800 of pushing the Canyon postoffice into the First Class division.

With free city delivery service, all local mail would bear 3 cents postage instead of 1 cent. This increase in postage would have pushed the local postoffice to far above the required $40,000 in order to increase the classification of the office.

Park Attendance Continues Grow Week After Week

With 2200 persons entering Palo Duro State Park on Sunday, another record of attendance was broken last week by a total of 2871 admissions.

Nearly 800 persons attended the Easter program at Sunrise Sunday under the direction of Rev. Leon Hill, pastor of the Amarillo Baptist Church. Breakfast was served to 150 at the lodge.

John McCarty stated Monday that so far this year $28,014.70 had been paid the State Parks Board from collections at the Park. It requires $14,000 to service the bonds against the land. One-half of the balance, or $4,507.35, is required by law to go into permanent improvements. McCarty's first year as concessionaire at the Park ends on May 14.

New signs have been placed in the Park area, and the lodge has been redecorated to add very much to the attractiveness of the building.

Dr. J. A. Hill Not Candidate For Legislature

"I am not a candidate for any political office," stated Dr. J. A. Hill Monday. Mr. Hill has been urged to become a candidate for State Representative from the 123rd District and had given the matter serious consideration.

"I am very grateful to those who have asked me to run for the office, but am not inclined to go through the physical and mental strain of running for public office," stated Dr. Hill.

"I am confident that my experience in meeting the legislature for appropriations for West Texas State during the past 30 years would be of great benefit to me and to the people of this district. However I am getting along so well with my newspaper work and enjoying it, without the difficulties connected with the life of a law maker that I shall stay with this pleasant work," concluded Mr. Hill.

Retiring Commission Thanks the People

Deadline Set For Congress Race on Monday

Judge Burney Slack attended a meeting of County Judges of the 18th Congressional District in Amarillo Friday where a program was adopted for the special election which will be held on May 6th to fill the vacancy in Congress created by the resignation of Eugene Worley. In the absence of laws on the subject, the judges were forced to "make laws" of their own. They were trying to be fair to both the candidates and the voters in adopting deadlines which must be observed.

The deadline for filing for the office of Congressman was set at 10 o'clock on the morning of April 17. This will give all candidates ample time in which to file with each County Judge in the 18th Congressional District.

Each county will arrange the ballots to be used in that county. The Judge, Sheriff and County Clerk will draw for places of the candidates in each county.

From the standpoint of the voters, the law provides that absentee voting may start 20 days before an election, which would be April 16. With this day falling on Sunday, most of the counties will be able to have their ballots arranged and printed on Monday, April 17, so that absentee voting may start without much delay.

In view of the fact that there are no laws on the subject, the Judges considered this meeting very important in order that uniform regulations could be adopted in handling the election.

From Borger came the announcement Saturday of the entrance of another candidate, making 11 in all. He is W. T. Pickel. The line up of announced candidates now include.

W. T. Pickel of Hutchinson County.
Mrs. Altavene Clark of Potter County.
J. Blake Timmons of Potter County.
H. J. Bice of Potter County.
E. T. Burk of Potter County.
Walter Rogers of Gray County.
Ben Guill of Gray County.
Collins Howard of Childress County.
Roland Davis of Childress County.
LeRoy (Pete) LaMaster of Ochiltree County.
Talma Smith of Donley County.

Rogers was a former District Attorney and in appreciation of his splendid work in this office, the sheriff of Gray county gave a barbecue last Thursday. This event was attended by many political leaders from all over the district.

Mr. Rogers is making an intensive campaign for Congress and is meeting with great success in all places that he visits.

The truck cost the city $6,950. The city has bought 1,000 feet of hose to go with the truck, which will cost $1,500. This hose has not been received, but will be put into use as soon as it arrives from the factory.

The new fire truck is highly appreciated by members of the fire department as it fills the needs of the city in meeting the requirements of the rapidly developing community.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Ben Guill, a Republican, Announces For Congress

There was no surprise in the entry of Ben Guill as a candidate for Congress from this Congressional District. With 10 candidates in the race, most anything can happen. If the Republicans stay with Guill, he could win in the special election, but he would have a first class fight on his hands to keep his seat in the November election.

Ben Guill is a brilliant young man. While a student in West Texas State he made a good record. He was urged to get into the race for Congress two years ago against Eugene Worley, and canvassed the situation thoroughly before giving up the idea. He is plenty young enough to give good service to the district, but he would be in the wrong political camp to really represent the entire district. Frank O'Brien made an impressive race against Worley, but came out of it a wiser and sadder man. Some mighty unkind things were said about him, and his political party. Perhaps Guill will fare a little better than O'Brien.

On with the Battle! There will be a hot time in the 18th Congressional District on May 6.

Olin Culberson Retires From Race for Texas Governor

A heart attack has removed Olin Culberson from the race for Governor. That is, he will not make the race, although we doubt very much whether Culberson was ever very much in the race. Running for Governor in a big state like Texas is a man's size job. While Olin Culberson is a well known politician, the man in office has the distinct advantage.

So far Caso March is the only announced candidate for the job, and he alone is making a campaign for the job. Of course Allan Shivers will be a candidate for his first full term.

It has been rumored that Pappy O'Daniel will make the race. This may be pure political hooey, or there may be something to the rumor. No one knows for sure just what Pappy is up to. Possibly no one knows the former governor's mind, and he never reveals his plans until he gets ready to act.

So far Shivers has a cinch on the job.

Government Housing Fails in Big Cities of the Plains

Voters in Lubbock rejected a government scheme for public housing.

The Amarillo City Commission rejected such a scheme, without submitting the proposal to the people.

After all, these municipalities are building and building and building. Perhaps they may over-build, no one knows.

There is a decided move throughout the nation to cut down on government spending and government participation in business. The only way that the government can be stopped in local interference is to stop asking for public spending.

Canyon has been allotted 15 housing units. This is one of the smallest towns in the state which will secure such a unit. There are a lot of people who wonder whether such a small unit of 15 houses will be profitable to the government, and will eventually pay off.

One thing is certain: When you borrow money for building from any of the government agencies, you will pay a higher rate of interest than you would have to pay local concerns.

The waste and red tape of the government in business is costly—very, very costly.

USO Folds Up and Quits

USO has folded up and will make no more appeals for funds. There is a reason.

Any welfare organization which attempts to do a job among the armed services will come in for a lot of criticism. This was true of the YMCA which attempted an impossible job during World War I. USO thought that it had worked out a fool-proof scheme for World War II, and while it was a vast improvement, due to the experience of the past, it was unjustly criticized for mistakes which were made.

We reached the conclusion long ago that the only way to run a welfare organization during war is through the armed forces. Yes, there will be plenty of mistakes in that method, but the people gripe and gripe and gripe, regardless of who is running the show, so let them gripe at the armed forces. Patriotic citizens who try to do their patriotic duty during war do not appreciate unjust criticism.

Dr. J. A. Hill Would Make An Ideal Member Legislature

A political move has started in Amarillo to draft Dr. J. A. Hill as a candidate for the legislature from this district. No man could be better prepared for the job than Dr. Hill, if he would accept the place.

However, there are handicaps, which no one more realizes than Dr. Hill: First, young men are being selected for public places; second, Amarillo has the bulk of the votes in the district, and there are thousands of voters in the cities who will vote for a home man in preference to some one from the outside; third, the legislature job costs much more money to hold than the State pays the member.

We would like to see Dr. Hill elected, but realize that should he enter the race his friends must carry on the campaign for him.

What one man can do when he sets about to pass legislation is seen in Kerr natural gas bill. Senator Kerr of Oklahoma set out to free the independent gas operators from federal control. He put over the bill through hard work and personal appeal to the Congress. Whether the bill is right or wrong, we are not saying. The example is still strong for personal campaigning on the legislation in which you are interested.

War begins to appear possible in India where the disciples of Mahatma Gandhi are about ready to deal sternly with Pakistan; evidently passive resistance is applicable only to superior force.

The Indians, according to one authority, learned the art of scalping from the white man. We are not surprised at this revelation.

The verdict of guilty should be accompanied by the overwhelming weight of the evidence, not upon hearsay, suspicion, rumor and allegations.

Special Election For Congress Is Set For Vote on May 6

We wish that we had the words to thoroughly awaken the voters of Randall county to the necessity of going to the polls on May 6th and voting for a Congressman who will serve until January 1st. With 10 candidates, should the field be equally split, no candidate will need a heavy vote to win this election. Therefore, it is up to each and every voter to take his obligations seriously. After all the Panhandle has much at stake in electing a representative who will be able to serve the district well during the balance of 1950.

We are hearing a lot of political predictions and comments on the various candidates. Perhaps few of them are true.

We are told that the labor backing extended to Blake Timmons puts him at the head of the list. On the other hand his advocacy of repeal of the Taft-Hartly law will probably hurt him in many sections of the district.

Mrs. Clark has been on the hunt for votes, and is said to be making a strong appeal among the women voters. If she can line up the women, she will have a strong backing.

E. T. Burk is using more newspaper space than all of the candidates combined. He is very active in going out and meeting the voters.

LeRoy (Pete) LaMaster has been on the road every minute since he announced. He is talking with farmers since he understands their problems.

Walter Rogers has started a strong newspaper campaign. A barbecue was held in his honor Thursday, and it is said that he has the unqualified backing of scores of the top politicians of the district. At least three candidates from the judicial district which he formerly served are in the race, and this may hurt his chances.

While the other candidates have not been as active as those listed above, this is written just a month before election day, and you may expect to see a lot of activity during that period. What may be true today could be changed entirely tomorrow, or next week. After all, political campaigns are won or lost during the last week of any campaign.

McCarthy Is Playing With Fire in Unwarranted Charges

It seems that the Republicans are becoming worried over the antics of Senator McCarthy. Those of us who have followed his charges have become alarmed that his charges were pure political thunder, and a grave, very grave, threat to national security.

However, we cannot forget for a minute that President Truman started all this rucus when he termed un-American investigation as a red herring. If the President had thought before he spouted off, he could have saved the government a lot of tragedy.

It is indicated that the President is now favorable to re-instatement of the bi-partisan foreign policy, which has been more or less effective in the past.

The nation cannot afford to longer fool around on such dangerously thin ice as we have been playing on in the past. So-called experts differ as to when Russia will be able to strike at the Untied States. We cannot afford to encourage them to strike in 1950, or even in 1960 by unjust criticism of our public officials.

We are just wondering what Senator McCarthy would do with a man who is suspected of being a commie, when it takes the government years to handle a known commie like Harry Bridges?

Saving the Courts From Themselves Is a Major Job

It would seem that an attempt is being made in Texas to save the courts from their own bogged down rules.

The case of the judgment against an old couple who didn't own the mule which caused an accident has brought the laws of the state into public scorn. The court says that it ruled correctly. A majority of the lawyers of the state are chagrinned over the court ruling. The citizenship, those of us who sit on the sideline and wonder, are still wondering if the laws of Texas are so rigid that they cannot be tempered with justice when justice appears to go against court procedure.

It is time that the lawyers do something about the laws which they pass; which they interpret; and which they are supposed to enforce and live by.

Defeated Candidate in Thanks

A defeated candidate published the following:

"I thank all of those who voted for me in the recent election. I am grateful to you for your kindly interest and your support.

"And my wife thanks all of those who voted against me for having saved me from the grief of holding public office."

Perhaps this is a most, most appropriate card of thanks, after all.

What becomes of all the "flying saucers" which folks think that they have been seeing? Why doesn't some of them land? And if they are as thick as have been reported, why doesn't someone get hit by a saucer?

Do you carry your drivers license? A lot of folks forget to carry their license when they drive on the highway. The State Highway Patrol is starting a campaign to stop cars and check the license. Don't get caught.

The nation's defenses are adequate—we have it on the word of the Secretary of Defense and nobody would question him; least of all mere admirals and generals.

If the democracies of the world form a super-union, they will be following the example of the thirteen American colonies and we think we should go along.

The United States should go easy in ratifying any treaty prepared by a group of people who seek to use the powers of government to guarantee the impossible.

Just how long the U. S. must extend economic help to other nations, in order to prevent the spread of communism, is an interesting question.

Watch your driving on the highways and you might not have to wait for a jury to come in to let you know whether you can drive in the future.

Let's Go To Church Sunday

EVERY SUNDAY . . . Easter is more to every grateful heart than the thrill of wearing smart new clothes . . . more than gladness that the long Winter is over and Spring has come again . . . more than looking forward to the full blooming of a happy Summer!

It is the renewal of hope in every heart that life can be good, a renewal of faith in the future, an acknowledgment of the joyous reassurance in those immortal words, "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." The glorious words that have rolled down the centuries bringing solace and relief to the burdened, are needed in today's confused and anxious world. To Him who said them, let us pay the tribute of our presence in His House. He is Risen! Come to Church on Easter!

T-Anchor Rodeo Stock Selected; Big Saturday Parade Is Planned

J. A. Wise, of Earth, Texas, famous for his 'rough and ready' rodeo stock, will furnish the animals and the arena for the Fourth Annual T-Anchor rodeo, April 21 and 22.

This will be the first intercollegiate rodeo in the history of the Aggie T-Anchor Rodeo Association, a West Texas State College organization.

Highlighting this gala event, will be a giant parade, Saturday morning April 22, from down-town Canyon to Buffalo Stadium via Fourth Avenue. Plans are being made now for broadcasting facilities to be on hand for the gigantic march. Ten high school bands have been invited to participate in the parade, but rodeo officials have not received any confirmations, as yet.

This year the WT Rodeo Association became a member of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association and the college's event will be governed by that body's rules and regulations. The competing schools will be out to earn more point honors. Places won in rodeos in which a cowboy enters give points. The national winner is the contestant with the highest number of points for the rodeo season.

The 1950 production will be held, as usual, in Buffalo Stadium. There will be two shows daily, beginning at 1:30 in the afternoon and 8:00 at night. Six events will be open for male contestants. They are calf-roping, bare back bronc riding, bull riding, ribbon-roping, saddle bronc riding and bull dogging.

This year there will be special contests for the cowgirls! This will be the clover-leaf barrel race and wild cow milking. The rodeo last year featured a barrel race, but nothing as spectacular as the plans promise for 1950.

Association members want it understood, that although it is an intercollegiate rodeo, West Texans can enter the affair without being members, or becoming members of, the NIRA. However, only members of the NIRA in other colleges will be eligible.

As a preliminary to the year's biggest show, the Association will sponsor one of the year's biggest dances Thursday night, April 20, at an undetermined campus site.

Ronald Davis Was Here Saturday in Congressional Race

RONALD DAVIS

A former Buffalo football and basketball star of the '30's is a candidate for Congress from the 18th Congressional District. He is Ronald Davis of Childress, and he spent Saturday here visiting among old friends.

"It looks like half of the people of Canyon are West Texas exes, whom I knew while in College," declared Davis after several hours spent in Canyon.

Davis is 39 years of age. He received his degree from W. T. in 1936 after three years with the Buffalo squad. He majored in Agriculture, and taught in Swisher, Hall, Childress, Collingsworth and Carson county before starting his farming in Hall county. He made a survey of the state of New Mexico for the Veterans Vocational program. He has been in charge of veterans vocational agriculture in Childress county for three years. As a teacher and practical farmer, Mr. Davis feels that he is well qualified to meet all of the agricultural problems in Congress.

"I find that most people in this district agree that the farm program is the most important in the district. For that reason I am the best qualified to help solve this problem, due to my long study of the problem," stated Mr. Davis.

Davis worked his way through W. T., and was housemaster at T-Anchor farm. He was president of the Senior Class of 1936.

He is married and has two sons. He is a Methodist; was active in civic clubs while in Swisher and Collingsworth counties; was a member of the Estilline school board for a number of years; is now a member of the Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce in Childress.

"I hope that all my old friends in Canyon and Randall county will support me in this campaign," concluded Davis.

MRS. JACK WALKER HAD SUE HITE CLUB PROGRAM

The Sue Hite Club met on Monday afternoon, April 10, at 3 o'clock in the Council Room of the Court House. Mrs. Herschel Coffee, president, presided.

Mrs. Jack Walker gave the program for the afternoon, and her topic was "Children Well and Happy," which was a continuation of the study for the pursuit of happiness. Mrs. Walker summed up her remarks with the statement, "Enjoying better health, we have a better opportunity for successful pursuit of happiness."

Those present were Mrs. Levi Cole, Mrs. E. R. Cleavinger, Mrs. Herschel Coffee, Mrs. B. B. Slack, Mrs. Leonard Britt, Mrs. Dan O'Connor, Mrs. Elmer Wooten, Mrs. Boone McClure, Mrs. M. J. Newman, Mrs. Jack Walker, Mrs. Cliff Mlinar, Mrs. Sidney Burgess, Mrs. Perry Bell, Mrs. Hatcher Brown, Mrs. Frank Barnhill, Mrs. Borden Price, Mrs. Robert P. Jarrett, Mrs. W. E. On Tuesday evening, April 4, members of the Ruth Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. W. T. McGregor.

Mrs. Tom C. Gooch, teacher, opened the meeting with prayer and a devotional was given by Mrs. Dale Killingsworth.

The business session followed, with Mrs. McGregor, president, presiding.

After a social hour, refreshments of frosted cakes, cookies and nuts were served by Mrs. McGregor and Mrs. Marvin McBroom, co-hostess.

Members present were Mrs. Gooch, Mrs. W. O. Nunley, Mrs. Hersey Williams, Mrs. Leroy Pitt, Mrs. A. B. Gray, Mrs. Tom Langston, Mrs. Joe Wilson, Mrs. D. A. Brown, Mrs. Dale Brock, Mrs. Killingsworth and the hostesses.

METHODIST GUILD

The Women's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church will meet in the home of Mrs. Felix Pierce on April 18, at 7:30 o'clock. There will be a special program "The Commandments of Love" which is being held by all Women's Societies of the world on the day of the opening session of the third Assembly of Women's Society at Cleveland, Ohio. All women of the church are invited.

Wesley Foundation To Sponsor a Hobo Week End

Anyone in Canyon who needs help this week end, from baby sitting to yard work, to washing the dishes, may call 409, and a willing worker will be sent out immediately.

The occasion is "Hobo Week End" sponsored by Wesley Foundation, which is the college youth organization of the First Methodist Church.

The Methodist students are raising money for their youth program and have chosen the "Hobo Week End" scheme for this purpose. The students are willing to do any kind of work, and the pay they will get will depend upon whatever price the respective employers desire to pay. All proceeds go to the Wesley Foundation.

Census of Randall May Create Two More County Jobs

If the census of Randall county reveals a larger population than 8,000, there will be two additional county officers, according to court house officials.

There will be a division of the County and District Clerk's office, as well as a division in the Sheriff, Tax Assessor and Collector's office.

There seems to be little doubt about the necessary population count, taking into consideration the great increase of population in South Amarillo as well as in Canyon, where the students are being counted.

OPEN DIXIE DOG STAND

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brothers of Panhandle have taken over management of the Dixie Dog stand located east of the highway. Mr. Brothers is attending West Texas State College, and Mrs. Brothers will maintain active management of the business.

Mrs. C. E. Hightower is home from Temple where she underwent an operation two weeks ago. She is greatly improved.

Food Handlers Going to School To Learn Skills

CHICAGO. — People who sell food to the public are beginning to realize that there are many things they don't know about that field and are going to school to learn some of them.

Both restaurants and grocery store employees here are getting a chance to take refresher courses in the latest methods of food handling. Newcomers also are being welcomed.

Classes are offered by the Merchandising Institute, a new non-profit school sponsored by Food Mart News, a trade publication and by wholesale and retail food distributors.

Margaret Bonfield, institute director, said every operation is included from the raw vegetable off the wholesaler's truck to the final dishwashing chore.

Display and selling of groceries and fresh produce take in two parts of the institute activity, and training of restaurant help the other.

The school has leased three floors of a building in Chicago's Loop. Equipment includes a complete modern retail food store with fluorescent lighting, window and shelf displays, and cold display counters for fresh produce.

All-Electric Kitchen

An all-electric kitchen on the restaurant floor is combined with an experimental dining room to give actual training in preparation and serving of food.

Meals are served daily in the dining room seating 200. Products of manufacturers and distributors participating in the institute program are demonstrated in the meals.

Diners include students and groups of women from Parent-Teacher Associations, hospital auxiliaries and similar clubs. Clubs sell tickets for a luncheon to their members and keep the money, since the institute serves the meals free.

There are demonstration talks on food products, films on growing and processing of foods and advice on good cooking methods—all presented in the reception room and home-craft center of the institute.

"Students and visitors are shown the best methods of producing well-cooked foods, both for volume business and on a small scale," Miss Bonfield said. "They even are taught how to make good coffee, a fundamental often lacking in some high-class restaurants."

Learn by Demonstration

Classes in general groceries selling are held three times a week at $5 for a complete course. Students learn by actual demonstration how a food store should be laid out and how to promote merchandising campaigns. Classes also include work in personnel training, advertising and promotion, store arrangement, neighborhood analysis and salesmanship.

Fresh produce classes are free, jointly sponsored by the institute, the U. S. department of agriculture and the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable association.

They teach the best way to prepare, trim, display, price and care for fresh fruits and vegetables.

A class in either groceries or produce has a limit of 15 persons each. This is so each can be given individual attention, Miss Bonfield noted, since the classes are run on a "learn-by-doing" basis.

Evening classes are planned in financial and legal problems, non-food departments and frozen foods and dairy products departments.

Changing of Monickers Benefits Hollywood Stars

HOLLYWOOD.—A rose by any other name may smell as sweet, but who could ever make a movie hero out of Worster Van Eps?

Worster changed his name to Willard Parker, and under that name he was able to star in several movies, including the latest at Columbia, "David Harding, Counterspy."

"An actor has to have a glamorous sounding name if he wants to be successful," Parker, or Van Eps, said.

How Rita Hayworth picked her screen name Parker doesn't know, but she's been a lot more successful with it than she was as Margarita Cansino. Gladys Smith trouped for several years as a child performer, but became internationally known as Mary Pickford.

Frances Gumm was a so - so vaudeville singer before she was retagged Judy Garland. Emma Marzos couldn't imagine that name on a theater marquee, so she changed it legally and professionally to Lizabeth Scott.

Ruby Stevens was a obscure chorus girl before she became Barbara Stanwyck. Her husband, Robert Taylor, changed his name from Spangler Arlington Brugh.

Joan Crawford, a movie star for a quarter of a century, was a chorus hoofer under the name of Lucille Le Soeur. The late Carole Lombard was born Jane Peters. And the name Garbo decorated more theater marquees than Greta Gustafson ever would have.

Improvements Made At Palo Duro Drive-in Theatre

Many have noticed the construction and remodeling work under way at the Palo Duro Drive-in Theatre on Canyon highway. In order to add to the good service always maintained by Harold Wilson, owner-manager of this popular drive-in theatre the screen is being enlarged from 30 x 40 feet to 37 x 51 feet as well as the construction of a modern refreshment concession which will feature hot dogs, cold drinks, popcorn, coffee and ice cream.

With this remodeling together with the fact that the very latest of R. C. A. Incar speakers are used which assure the very best and clearest in sound, and the highest class pictures obtainable have been booked for the spring and summer season, is proof that Mr. Wolson's slogan "Come as You Are—Enjoy the Movies From Your Car" is being lived up to.

With the idea in mind of good entertainment for the whole family —from the small kids to grandma the pictures to be seen at the Palo Duro are outstanding. The drive-in theatre, since its inception has been constantly increasing in popularity because of the extreme comfort afforded the family attendance, especially those with small children and babies, you don't have to dress up and if junior wiggles or the baby cries there isn't the disturbance to others as would be experienced in the conventional theatre.

The rapidly increase in popularity of the drive-in theatre can be attributed to aggressive operators like Harold Wilson of the Palo Duro who has the comfort and entertainment of his patrons in mind at all times and leaves nothing undone to accomplish his goal of complete patron satisfaction.

Demand For Amarillo Secretarial School Grads

Business men with whom we have talked in recent months have expressed the opinion that there are many openings to good positions to be found for young men and women with business, accounting, secretarial, Comptometer or Dictaphone training. This leads us to the conclusion that it is in order to recommend one of these schools to our readers.

Amarillo Secretarial School, 800 Jefferson in Amarillo is the one institution that is qualified to offer courses in business work. This school is beyond average in the careful preparation given each student. Individual attention given by Mrs. Bess Orr Foringer, the competent manager, to each student as well as full cooperation and supervision given by the highly qualified instructional staff, assures each student that their course is complete and none are graduated until she or he has thoroughly mastered every detail of the course of instructions and put in full practice time.

Business leaders and employers throughout Texas realize the fine preparation and unusual capability of Amarillo Secretarial School graduates and as a result there are usually ample openings available for those completing their training.

Of additional interest to our readers is the fact that this school is approved for disabled veteran training under the G. I. Bill 16 and returned veterans under public law 346 and offers a schedule so that students may take a course of learning while holding down a part or full-time job.

We strongly urge our readers, particularly the younger ones, to investigate the possibilities of enrollment at the Spring term. Additional information may be obtained, without obligation, by calling at Amarillo Secretarial School at 800 Jefferson or dropping them a postcard. You will find Mrs. Foringer most willing to give complete and helpful information.

Moore, manager at 3-6010 or a postcard will bring full information about this complete termite control insulation and monthly payment terms (extending over a period of 36 months)are available if desired.

We congratulate Mr. Moore and Teel Terminix Co. in Amarillo for the outstanding service that they are rendering in the Panhandle and recommend TERMINIX to our many readers and suggest that they request an inspection of their buildings.

R. E. Young Builds Better Homes

As a substantial contributor to the progress of the Panhandle, R. E. Young general contractor has established a well-deserved reputation for dependability and efficiency in all types of construction work. For those interested in either commercial or residential work the Young organization of 1202 Alabama in Amarillo will be found to be top ranking.

Through the diligent adherence to those factors requisite to the successful operation of a construction business, Mr. Young has established his concern as virtual headquarters for matters pertaining to building. By careful organization he has integrated the efforts of carpenters, and the other construction crews and the various sub-contracting groups to form a smooth functioning building operation from the architect's plans to the completed project.

Those who have enjoyed his above-board methods and valuable services recognize him for his friendly attitude. Whether the contract is established on a cost-plus of fixed-fee basis the client may always be assured of the highest quality work at the lowest possible price consistent with quality. It has always been the policy of Mr. Young to provide his prospective builders with friendly guidance on the complicated matters peculiar to this business. Certainly no other business service is more directly related to the favorable development of this district and it is only fitting that an aggressive citizen such as R. E. Young should be among the more prominent men of his profession. Those of our readers who are contemplating a construction program, especially the building of a better home, can do no better than refer their problem to R. E. Young, contractor at 1202 Alabama in Amarillo.

Vandale Contest for Historical Prizes Are Due April 25

All Vandale Historical Essay contest material must be either in the hands of contest officials, or in the mail, by April 25.

Dr. L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, is in charge of collecting all material. He said Thursday that almost twenty individuals had notified him of their intentions of entering the contest.

This will be the fourth annual event of this nature. The contest was started in 1946 by Earl Vandale, of Amarillo, for the purpose of stimulating interest in collecting, research, and writing of the history of the high plains. This contest is open to everyone, but slight preference will be given to amateurs by the judges.

Material concerning a part of this five-state area is permissable. Stories from Eastern New Mexico, Southern Colorado, Southern Kansas, Western Oklahoma, and North and West Texas have been submitted in the past and entries from almost all those areas have placed in the judging.

Prizes for the contest amount to $150. One hundred dollars to the winner and Fifty dollars to the second best paper.

Dr. Sheffy asks that this information pertinent to the contest be printed again; papers should be typewritten on one side only, double spaced, and on paper (8½x11). All papers will become the property of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society with the right of publication in its annual.

The decisions of the judges will be final.

Papers should be addressed to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, Canyon, Texas, and must be postmarked not later than April 25, 1950. For further information write L. F. Sheffy, Canyon.

Collins Howard Announces As a Candidate For Congress Post

Collins Howard, former Childress County attorney and judge, has announced his candidacy for United States representative from the 18th Congressional District in the May 6th special election.

Howard is a native of Texas, former machinist at the Fort Worth and Denver railroad shops in Childress and a veteran of World War Two. He has been a resident of the Panhandle district since childhood.

"In these critical times," Howard said, "I feel the nation needs men of mature judgment and with experience in public affairs in places of leadership.

"I believe my experience as a laborer, as an attorney and public official, and as an overseas veteran in the recent war, qualifies me to represent the people of this district in the United States Congress."

"I have no promises to make," Howard said; "but I will use my training, experience and ability to the best advantage possible in representing all of the people of the Panhandle district. I think preservation of the peace is the most vital question facing the world today; and, of course, I will do anything within my power to prevent another war. Equally important, I think, is maintenance of our democratic way of life. I shall always favor sane legislative action to protect that way of life from enemies, whether they are in this country or in foreign countries.

"I am opposed to all 'isms' except Americanism; and I do not favor nor am I supported by any group, clique or organization.

"I sincerely ask the support of the voters of the district in this brief campaign."

Howard was born Oct. 6, 1899, in Goliad, Texas. His father, W. B. Howard, was superintendent of public schools in Amarillo in 1898. His uncle, Elbert Howard, homesteaded in Childress County in 1888, being one of the first settlers. Howard was educated in the Childress public schools, the Fort Worth and Denver Railway Shops, in the law offices of the lawyers of the 100th judicial district and in the Childress County Courthouse.

Served four years as a machinist apprentice in the railway shops. In 1926 was promoted to shop foreman. Continued as such until the depression hit in 1932. Then began in earnest studying law in spare time in his father's and other law offices in the 100th judicial district.

Was admitted to the bar in 1935. In 1936 went to Pampa and went to work for Cabot Shops, Inc., as machine shop foreman. Stayed there for six months then announced for the office of county attorney of

COLLINS HOWARD

Childress County. Was elected for a two-year term and re-elected for two more.

He then ran for county judge and was elected for a two year term and later re-elected for a second two year term. During the second term in 1942, volunteered for services with the Burlington Railway Operating Battalion as a roundhouse foreman. In April 1943 was called to active duty. After basic training in Fort Slocum, New York, six weeks in the Adjutant General's School in Fort Washington, Maryland and a few months training in New Orleans was sent to England with the headquarters of the Second Military Railway service.

Helped plan the details of the invasion and was admitted to the War Room before "D" day for briefing on the invasion and was shown on the map where the landing would be made. Landed on Omaha Beach on D plus 30 and from there proceeded to and took part in five campaigns, the best known of which is the Battle of the Bulge.

Was injured in a plane crash while reconnoitering over Germany. After getting out of the hospital transferred to the Judge Advocate General's Corps and after a short tour of duty in Weisbaden, Germany in War Crimes work went to Rheims, France, and served as a defense counsel in the trial of American soldiers.

Came back to the United States at the first opportunity, passed through Washington and made application for the position of counsel in the trial of Japanese war criminals. About a month after arriving home got word to rush to Washington and get ready to fly to Tokyo.

Was assigned the defense of Heitaro Kimura, who was being tried in a common trial with Tojo and 26 others.

Howard's wife was one of the first American wives to go to Japan after the cessation of hostilities. Later one of the American attorneys had to leave the trial so his client Naoki Hoshino asked Howard to represent him, which he did. Kimura, a Japanese minister of war while Tojo was concurrently prime minister and war minister, was hanged. Hoshino was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment.

Howard arrived home in January 1949 since which time he has practiced law in Childress and worked for the Air Force as legal examiner.

Howard is married and has two children and two grandchildren.

A representative of the Town Hall movement was here this week conferring with local citizens on the plan which he sponsors.

As organized, the present Town Hall is based upon the old chautauqua system, or lyceum course plan, but no tickets are sold to individual events.

The programs may be varied, covering a vast number of subjects and the performers reserve part of their programs for questions and answers In some towns the Knife & Fork plan of a dinner has been established.

Tickets are given all those who subscribe to the season's course and these tickets are good for any Town Hall program in the state.

BOYCE HOUSE "Gives You Texas"

During a session of the legislature, your columnist was in an Austin hotel lobby when a man came up and began telling me about the merits of of a piece of legislation which had been introduced. I soon deduced that he was a lobbyist. I interrupted, "You think I'm a member of the House?" He replied, "Yes, aren't you?" I said, "No; my name is House." His interest dropped to zero.

There are 150 members in the Texas House of Representatives. I was chatting with a member one day when a man passed through the hotel lobby. The legislator asked, "Who is he?" I replied, "He's a member of the House." They had served together one term and were in the midst of a second term!

A former State official, noted for his sense of humor, remarked, "I care not who votes—just so they let my friends count 'em."

And one one occasion, this same philosopher was told that a certain man had been criticizing him severely. The official replied, "I don't see why he's so strong against me; I've never done anything for him."

Some of those broadway humor writers are rather clever—in an idiotic kind of way.

Mark Twain declared that the courts of the United States have an insanity plea that would have freed Cain.

One of the oldest:

A man riding in a car said to his friend, who was driving and was racing a train to a crossing:

"I don't care who wins just so it's not a tie."

Creeping along the highway between San Marcos and Austin some time ago was an old canvas-covered wagon drawn by two sad-looking nags. That is the way the outfit appeared to the passengers on a bus as it sped by.

But to the cotton headed boy who sat on the seat of the wagon beside his father, the ancient vehicle and the bony horses may have seemed the embodiment of romance and high adventure.

When I was that age, my father and I rambled through the ranch country of Southwest Texas and along that very same road—and no experience since has seemed as memorable.

Mann Bakery Has Sensational Growth

Starting from a small beginning and growing with the Panhandle is the well known Mann Bakery located at 506 N. Fillmore in Amarillo and serving the entire Panhandle with their popular top-quality products.

There have been many reasons and factors behind the rapid growth of this outstanding concern but uppermost is the high quality of their products, because nothing is slighted in the baking of their fine bread. They use only the very best and purest ingredients, their bakery is most modern in every respect and an outstanding example for sanitation. All of this is the reason for the fine texture and superior taste of Mann's bread.

In addition to producing a superior product they have seen to it that deliveries are made daily to the grocery stores of the Panhandle so that the housewife can always be assured of getting a fresh supply of this delicious bread every day.

James N. Mann the owner of this outstanding baking institution is to be complimented on the high quality of the product as well as the smooth functioning organization that he has built to better serve the housewives of the Panhandle. He is an aggressive citizen that has always cooperated with every movement to better the community and to make it a better place in which to live. We take pride in pointing to James N. Mann and the bakery bearing his name in this review edition to our many readers.

Many Problems Barring Rocket Space Journeys

CHICAGO, ILL.—There's no hurry about planning that inter-space rocket flight, folks. There's a lot of kinks to be ironed out in the transportation angle first. At least that's the conclusion of four German rocket experts, now with the American armed forces. They point out that solar radiation, weightlessness and meteors are some of the major obstacles that must be overcome before man can rocket out into inter-stellar space.

They discussed the problems for physicians and military personnel at a symposium space medicine at the University of Illinois professional colleges.

The air force set up a department of space medicine at Randolph field, Texas, at the close of the war.

The German scientists and two American rocket experts gave this version of how a passenger, zooming out beyond the pull of gravity, would fare:

450,000 Miles Per Hour

The space ship would shoot upward at 450,000 miles an hour. A man could survive that burst of speed for the short time necessary to get the rocket into motion. However, a person's nervous system does not react quickly enough for such speed. In the two-tenths of a second required for a passenger to have any conscious reaction, the rocket would have traveled 25 miles. Electronic engineering, possibly by remote control, might be a solution.

The rocket would streak through the atmosphere so fast its metal skin would heat 1,112 degrees fahrenheit. Then, out in space, the real trouble would start.

One peril would be meteors that normally burn themselves out when they pass through the earth's atmosphere. Even a tiny meteor, slightly larger than a BB pellet, could plow through the ship, knocking out its cabin pressure. A large meteor would demolish the rocket.

Passengers Weightless

The passengers would undergo an experience no one has even known. They would be weightless. The air around them would be weightless. Without some ventilation system, a warm cloud soon would surround their bodies. Their own breath would be a problem. It would remain out in space in front of them. Any body sweat would create a fog in their compartment.

They would experience strange discomforts. Their hair, having no weight, would stand up. Their clothes would bag oddly.

Solar X-rays from the sun would be another major danger. These X-rays probably would pass through the metal skin of the rocket. If the walls were lined with thin plates of lead to keep the X-rays out, this in itself would cause another radiation danger. Cosmic particles striking these lead plates would create deadly ray showers.

Dr. Wernher Von Braun, a V-2 rocket expert, said rocket fuel now is no problem. He said a three stage rocket 200 feet high and 60 feet in diameter probably could do the job. Such a rocket, he said, probably could be landed with retractable wings and tricycle landing gear.

Hindu Houdini Remains Buried for 87 Hours

BOMBAY.—Huge crowds saw a 45-year-old yogi, Swami Ramdasji, dug out alive from an "airtight" cement crypt where he had been "buried" for 87 hours on a bed of nails.

To make things even tougher, the little man with the big black beard had been "completely submerged" in water until his release after three and one-half days in the coffin-like niche.

Ramdasji climbed into the wooden coffin. He lay on a bed of nails —just like you see in the magazine cartoons—and the sides of the coffin also had nails jagging into his flesh.

The coffin was then sealed inside an eight-by-eight-by-six-foot cement crypt. Ramdasji's disciples then sat by the crypt day and night chanting Hindu vedic prayers while keeping a sacred fire burning. On top of the crypt they placed coconuts and flowers.

Then they bored a small hole into the crypt. But it didn't help the yogi man. Into the hole they pushed a hose from a near-by hydrant and immersed the air-starved Hindu in water.

Many of the thousands of people who rose before dawn to make sure of a ringside seat at the disinterment obviously believed the Swami had bitten off more than he could chew this time.

They watched tensely as his followers hacked the cement away with picks. Then they crawled down to the coffin with blankets. They lifted Ramdasji, still in a Yogi trance and dripping wet, onto a dias where all could see him.

They slowly massaged his head, arms and body until he opened his eyes, looked slowly around — and smiled.

Doctors pronounced him all right.

Importance of Saar Was Discussed by Dr. Held at Clark U

Worcester, Mass.: The Saar is the key to peace in western Europe, according to Prof. Colbert C. Held of West Texas State College, Canyon, Texas, who spoke on "Recent Political-Geographical Changes in the Saarland" before the Association of American Geographers at Clark University this morning. Dr. Held, who received his Doctor of Philosophy degree from Clark last August, pointed out that an unsatisfactory solution of this problem can stir up further antagonism between France and Germany to serve as a tool for further Russian aggression in eastern Europe.

"The Russians can say in effect," he continued, "if Britain and America permit France to take the Saar away from Germany on one side, then surely they cannot logically complain if we take the trans-Oder-Neisse land from Germany on the other side."

Much of the Saarland's troubles come from its location, said Dr. Held. The Saarland is a marchland or political foreland of Germany. As such it is situated near the ethnic divide between the antagonistic Gallic and Germanic cultures. Furthermore, it sits astride one of the four important gateways that lead from Germany to France. Both France and Germany consider the Saar a keystone in their respective Rhine policies.

More of the Saarland's troubles come from its economic role. With six billion metric tons of coal reserves and a significant part of Europe's steel producing capacity the Saar is extremely valuable to German industrial life and still much more valuable to coal-hungry France, he said.

The Saarland makes up one corner of an economic triangle, with the Ruhr industrial area of Germany and the Lorraine area of France making up the other two corners, said Prof. Held. Lorraine furnishes iron ore to the other two, the Ruhr furnishes coking coal to the other two, and the Saar furnishes coal to Lorraine. Preservation of the efficiency of this interchange is a necessity in any solution of the Saar Problem, he claimed.

As a solution to the dilemma, Dr. Held thinks that the Saarland should be created an autonomous state and admitted to the Council of Europe, which is in accord with the wishes of the people of the Saarland as expressed in the 1947 election in that area. A plebiscite is unnecessary and would be a mistake, he said, since it would only serve to intensiify the antagonism between France and Germany. After the autonomous state has been given legal status Germany should be urged to join the Council of Europe and so gain a hand in dealing with Saarland affairs. France, said Dr. Held, should be specifically barred from annexing the Saar politically.

American Bride Less 'Costly' Than Primitive

WASHINGTON, D. C.—America's lovely women may set up a howl at this, but it's a fact that American brides come cheap—original cost, that is—compared to their less-civilized sisters of the grass skirt sets in primitive lands. And no less a source than the National Geographic Society is the authority for that statement.

The society points out that the American lover who has $2 or so in his jeans can purchase a marriage license and hustle his gal to the altar. There, after the usual pledges, he can slip the parson whatever he can spare and be away on his honeymoon.

But it isn't that simple among primitive tribes.

Take New Guinea. There the native swains find a price tag of $600 on their lady loves. True, they can go into the woods and pluck a few wild flowers and maybe spear a wild boar for the wedding feast, but there still remains the original cash outlay.

May Cost $250

In Nigeria, the high cost of brides is causing a fine old to-do. Among the Ibo-speaking people of that country, a shapely, pretty gal may win for her pappy as much as $250, while the parents of a homely girl with skinny pipes and buck teeth would have to be satisfied with three mangy goats.

Around the world where bride-buying is an accepted custom, a girl must hide her head in shame unless she earns something for papa.

Among the Kaffirs, members of the Bantu race of South Africa, a girl who is not bought with cattle is dubbed an "old cat" by her campfire sisters. An "old cat" down there adds up to one word—"worthless."

With the Kuki-Lushai people of Assam, India, a young man is expected to give a few gourds of firewater to his sweetheart's parents when he calls to ask her to be his own.

Groom Goes to Work

If the folks accept him, he moves in on the girl's father and goes right to work. He becomes a servant in the household for three years. Then, if he has behaved, he is free to wed. But another two years of servitude is required before he can go into the woods and cut down the material for his own thatch hut.

In Alaska, the situation is different. A hopeful suitor of the Kenai doesn't bother to ask for parental consent. He slips silently into the old man's igloo and begins to cook, clean and take care of steaming up water for the baths. If he does a good job, he is allowed to work on for a year, then he can marry the girl and start igloo inhabiting on his own.

All of which makes America a wonderful country.

We fellows expect, by tradition, to have the papa-in-law foot all of the bills for the wedding, give us a set of sterling and maybe a new house for a wedding present.

Alienation of Affections Wrong, Even in Dog Case

NEWPORT NEWS, VA.—Alienation of affections, even when it's only puppy love, won't be tolerated here, the court said.

That was the ruling of Police Judge John Massey when he found himself confronted with a new version of the old "eternal triangle."

The defendant, Lee Miller, was charged with cursing and abusing. His accuser was Thessalonia Smith.

Miller denied any back room language. Instead, he charged that Smith had petted and fed his dog so much that he just didn't like it and told Smith so.

The judge observed:

"It looks like the main charge should be alienation of affections of a dog, and I've never heard of it before."

Then he ordered:

Miller to pay a $10 fine for incorrect language.

Smith to ignore Miller's pup's advances and, above all, to stop feeding it.

Heroism Held Inherent In Entire Human Race

PITTSBURGH. — According to a declaration by a hero-recognizing agency, which preferred to remain anonymous, heroism is an "inherent trait in the human race."

It was contended that "heroism is prompted by what happens on the spur of the moment and what the man has in him.

But the basic characteristic of human nature itself is to try to help. Therefore a great percentage of people would respond to the situation and try to be helpful. It's an inherent quality of a human being.

"Station in life doesn't have much bearing on heroes. They come from all walks of life, the poor, rich, and middle class. We have no heroes under the age of 8—a child doesn't distinguish between danger and nondanger. After that heroes can be any age. Heroism frequently is almost a reflex action."

Foreign countries improved monetary reserves last year.

S. L. Cook Renders Outstanding Service

Operators of trucks and automobiles all have learned that there is certainly no substitute for experience in the repairing and servicing of motor vehicles. The "shade tree mechanic" and the inexperienced jack-of-all-trades around the filling station has neither the experience or equipment to render a good job. Many have found that it is real economy to take their wheel aligning and brake work to S. L. Cook, located at 409 W. 6th in Amarillo who specializes in the relining, drum turning and adjusting of brakes. S. L. Cook uses only Bonded Brake Lining, with no rivets and every job is thoroughly inspected and tested before delivery. He also specializes in wheel aligning and balancing.

S. L. Cook's shop has been completely equipped with the very latest modern equipment to render the best of service in brake work and wheel balancing and aligning. The mechanics are thoroughly trained and the work is supervised by Mr. Cook. Many of the larger companies and operators of fleets depend entirely upon the services of S. L. Cook for their work in his line, knowing that he will give them not only the very best expert service but that his charges are always reasonable.

We all know that the car or truck that is operated with poor brakes is the greatest safety hazard on our streets and highways and that causes more accidents. The wise motorist has his brakes and wheel alignment checked periodically to not only prevent accidents but to lengthen the life of his car. We suggest to our readers that they go to S. L. Cook, 409 W. 6th in Amarillo and have their car checked for faulty brakes and wheel alignment. You will be pleased with the efficient and courteous service.

Dry Weather Turns Farmers To Jeoffroy Plows

Amarillo's leading manufacturer of agricultural implements is constantly working and developing new equipment that is adapted to farming in the Panhandle and other localities that experience dry climatic conditions and a deficiency in rainfall. Farmers have found by using the JEOFFROY Soil Control Cultivator that the soil resists erosion, the cost is reduced about one-half and it also stops blowing. It is useful to stubble land immediately after harvest. By using the two-inch wide "chisel" points as deep as possible, the land is put in shape to sponge up the summer rains. The JEOFFROY breaks up the hardpan and makes way for moisture to penetrate farther into the subsoil.

JEOFFROY now offers a valuable new attachment for all JEOFFROY models—a seeding attachment made by Dempster. Its big advantage for farmers in this area is that they need not wait until the ground is moist on the surface or until immediately following a rain to plant. If there is any subsurface moisture at all, it can be reached with the chisel plow and seeding attachment. Last year, a number of farmers in this area planted all of their wheat with a chisel drill. This spring we are having an excellent opportunity to observe the benefits of that kind of planting. In many instances, stands of wheat planted with this equipment even as dry as it has been are very good, while wheat on adjoining acreage which was planted with conventional drill has not shown good development.

R. C. Davidson, General Sales Manager of Jeoffroy Mfg. Inc. in Amarillo is to be complimented on his untiring efforts in the interests of the agricultural developments in this section and the "welcome mat" to his office is always open to those interested in the promotion of better farming by the use of more modern and efficient machinery and he is glad to give the benefit of his wide experience and the research of Jeoffroy to those that seek it. We compliment this aggressive Amarillo plow manufacturer on their outstanding developments and interest in the Panhandle.

Greendart Co. Handle Many Outstanding Lines

Keeping step with the progress and growth of the Panhandle is Greendart Chemical Co. in Amarillo who are among the largest distributors of janitor supplies, wax, mops, brooms and a most complete line of building maintenance equipment, including heavy duty mops and mopping tanks, chemicals, disinfectants, insecticides, sweeping compounds and sanitary products.

Starting from a small beginning this company has forged ahead to a commanding position and is today admirably serving the Southwest. They have gained a reputation that is well merited and the credit for the high niche that the firm occupies should go to the aggressive owners, Wm. Dart and Earl Green. They are always striving to improve customer relations and they have been highly successful in this respect.

The very high quality of the products sold together with the very fastest service obtainable, coupled with the friendly attitude and their entire organization and reasonable prices are the main reasons for their rapid growth and outstanding success.

We are glad therefore to honor Messrs. Green and Dart and the chemical company bearing their names in this review and wish for them many years of continued successful operation.

AH, SWEET MYSTERY OF LIFE

Spring has sprung! Several other things have sprung along with it, too, right into our laps, and that la-z-z-y old spring fever is right up there in the lead.

"It's so hard to do school work. What a beautiful day. I'm so sleepy I could die." Where is the one that is immune to such thoughts as he feels the first bewitching touches of that age-old malady?

The weather is apt to turn many into philosophers, pondering the sweet mystery of life rather than the practical reality of school work. A rosy haze obscures vision to the point that one's perspective is left hanging dangerously in mid air. The sky is inspirational, the trees are beautiful, and common, every day's existence is so dull. We, in reality, poets at heart, long to mingle with the sublime and the spiritual.

Good heavens, what was that? Just Mrs. Simms gently thumping each of her sleepy students on the head. Back to diagramming we must go!

Seriously though, this is the last six weeks, with lots and lots of hard work to do. So let's get "on the ball" and kick ol' man spring fever out the door. He never was worth much anyway.

E. A. Wooten Tells Group About Visit

"Listening to addresses by David E. Lilianthal, Walter Reuther, and Eleanor Roosevelt in the largest auditorium in the world is most inspirational," declared Superintendent E. A. Wooten in his address to the public school chapter of Classroom Teachers last Tuesday night.

This was the introductory program of the American Administrators Association which Mr. Wooten recently attended in Atlantic City. Various sectional meetings were held each day, showing latest teaching methods.

Another item of interest to him is the great organ, built there with thirteen rows of keys, for which an organist is employed yearly at a salary of $15,000.

During the business meeting of the evening the following officers for 1950-1951 were elected: Mrs. T. E. Beard, president; Ray Schultz, first vice-president; Mrs. Nora E. Gilmore, secretary; and Mrs. Tom Brasher, treasurer.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames T. W. Collins, Joe Black, Roscoe Davis, Stella Murrell, A. K. Goodman, Dan Usery, Tom Brasher, Isabelle Cousins, Mitchell Jones, Andy Walsh, John Davis, Doreen Welsh, Ed Weeks, A. K. Knott, Cecil Simms, Nora E. Gilmore, Miss Margaret Hillman, Messrs. Harry Garrison, Herman Demus, Jim Scott and the hosts to the group: Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wooten, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Miller, and Miss Elva Fronabarger.

Long Awaited Jackets Arrive For Basketball, Choir and Band

"They're here? You really mean it? They've come at last! Oh, I'm so happy I could shout!"

Exclamations such as these were heard as the basketball, choir and band jackets arrived in CHS last week.

Yes, siree! The owners of the new jackets are "mighty proud." To top it off, they're all made of grey satin. The basketball jackets have a purple "C" and pocket faced with purple. The knit around the neck and sleeves is purple, grey, and white.

The choir and band jackets are just alike with purple and white stripes around the sleeves and collars and pockets faced in purple. The difference is that the choir jackets have a quarter note with "C" in the center while the band jackets have a lyre with a "C" on it.

While roamin' around in that there "little" sandstorm the other day I'll be hornswaggled if I didn't see more couples out a' spoonin' than usual. My eyes got so plum full o' dirt that it kinda' clouded my vision, but here's what I done seen anyhow.

Bruce Winn (But I thought he was going steady!) and Linda Dooley were riding around in the dust making faces at all the pedestrians.

Whiz'! Mr. Barnett's Pontiac went by and who do you think was in it? Why Mr. Barnett and Martha Hales. She was getting some outside help with her chemistry.

I was walking down the aisle in the Varsity, digging the dirt out of my eyes as I went, when what should I see but Mary Elizabeth Jennings being escorted by Glenn Prater.

No sooner had I come out of the movie than I was confronted with—well of all people—Ann Freeman and Billy Samples.

The dirt was clogging up my throat about this time and I decided to jog over to the drug store for some refreshments. Sipping a soda were Earl Simon and Joanna Haines, Larry Prater and Donna Erwin. Well—like I say—you see some of the strangest things in a sandstorm!

Outside once again—and ah, it was good to breath the clean—cough, cough, strangle, strangle—air. Coming up the street and paying little attention to the weather, you'd never guess whom I saw, so best I tell you—Dana Lee Rice and Wayne Prichard.

I was once more in the process of shoveling out my eyes when I heard a loud—pant, pant, pant. I looked around and saw Mary Ruth Hill trying to keep up with her date, Troy Burrus. I was just fixing to speak to them when on the loveliest bicycle built for two you ever saw, up peddled Berkeley SoRelle and Dixie Whitman????

Out of the corner of my eye I spied Peggy Moore and Mickey "Killer" King sitting on a sway-back mare in the middle of Fourth Street. And guess what that Don Juan was doing—reciting amorous poems to Peggy.

Well, like I said—one meets the strangest people in sandstorms—doesn't one!!

Officers Stress Military Training

Colonel White and Lieutenant Baumgartner from the Military Science and Tactics Department at Texas Tech, spoke here Tuesday of the benefits of the R. O. T. C. to the senior boys.

Advantages of the different departments of the R. O. T. C. were brought out and discussed by the officers. Pictures of the activities such as dancing, swimming and summer camp were passed around among the boys.

After the men spoke, they answered any questions from the boys concerning R. O. T. C. or Texas Tech.

Jimmy Lindsey, Carol SoRelle and Carol Miller, students at Texas A. & M. spoke here Thursday to the senior boys on the benefits of their school. They spoke of a well rounded sports program, social life and education, after which questions from the CHS boys were answered.

The possibility of attending church during the Senior trip was discussed at Senior Class meeting, which was held in Mr. Devin's room Tuesday. A report on the bake sale was given, and committees were appointed to work on the Senior play.

'M' Leads Letters Listing Surnames

The "M's" have it by two counts. Thirty-four students of CHS have surnames beginning with M. The P's have thirty two and there are only two V's which begin Vandergriff—for Patsy and Bobby. No surnames begin with I, Q, X, or Z. The students in CHS whose names start with M are: J. T. Maddux, James Marshall, Shirley Marshall, Helen Martin, Melva Martin, Jerry Martin, Virgil Martin, Helen Meyer, Don Mickey, Jo Ann Mickey, Tommy Middleton, Charles Miller, Davis Eugene Miller, James Miller, Denny Mitchell, Jackey Mitchell, Charles Mobley, Christene Mobley, Charles Money, Edel Money, Claude Money, Roxie Money, Wynelle Montgomery, Ann Moore, Leland Moore, Peggy Moore, Alvin Moore, Charles Morris, Billy Morton, Tommy Meyers, Jim Montgomery, John Miller.

Do we have twins in our high school? No! Look closer. It's Dorothy McReynolds and Teddy Howell sporting full skirts tied in the back, just alike, with similar summer blouses.

Speaking of similar things, Joe Abbott and Ruby Bonds have identical white sweaters with red strips, also Betty Slagle and Mary Ann Sloan are wearing yellow ones with brown strips.

Elaine Fisher has been wearing a white blouse with a heart in front edged with lace. Smaller hearts are in the larger one and at the edges of the sleeves.

Doris Keller's forest green blouse goes beautifully with her dark hair. The blouse is full, with drawn up sleeves and the neck of the blouse ties also.

Norman Stone and Jim Russell have been sporting loud shirts around school this week.

Patsy Vandergriff stepped out in a "devastatingly feminine" frock of green last Friday, and take a look at that pink chambra which Dorothy Neblett wears. It has a tiered skirt piped in white rick-rack.

That "too-too-divine" blue and yellow plaid gingham dress of Jo Parker's is one of the latest ideas for spring. Its square neckline is set off with bows at the right side, and a criss-cross ruffle up one side of the skirt with the same trim completing the charm.

"Oh, you beautiful doll" is an apt description of Alice Jean Gill in her low necked yellow dress, tied at the waist with a morrow apple green ribbon.

Sherma Dixon's full skirt with background of pink with dark pink and gray flowers adds a touch of spring along with the other bright colors being worn, Miss Betty Hardaway's falls in the fashion parade with a black and white check frock.

Florence Coffee looks just right in her new skirt of light green chintz, splashed with large white roses. The skirt is circular. The white blouse has one of the roses from the skirt material appliqued near the neckline at the right side.

Flashy-Flash! Those new jackets of gray satin which lucky students of CHS are wearing are "a sight for sore eyes."

Mrs. Cecil Simms followed spring yearnings by wearing a gray chambra that is trimmed in embroidery of self-material just right to complement her dark hair and eyes, and those new "hair-do's" of Mrs. Ed Weeks! They add the correct touch for the striking suits and shoes which she wears these days. As a final note, that sleeveless dress of pink, blue and gray that Martha Hales is wearing is "stunning". Grade Notes

The immortal Easter bunny made the rounds in the grade school last week.

One of his first visits was to Mrs. Collins' first grade where with the help of Mrs. Crews Henry, Mrs. Robert Bellah and Mrs. Tom Platt he entertained the children with an egg hunt. Following the hunt the room mothers served pop, cookies and candy easter eggs.

These first graders enjoyed a letter from Dale Pitts, a former member of the class, who is now living in Childress.

Steve Hill from Lockney, Texas, is a new pupil in this room.

The Easter bunny presented Mrs. Murrell's second graders with 189 brightly colored eggs which the room mothers, Mrs. John Robinson, Mrs. T. H. Foster, and Mrs. M. R. Rogers scattered about on a vacant lot on 8th Avenue. After the egg hunt the children had a picnic lunch.

The class was honored with five visitors for the occasion. They were Mrs. T. B. Combs, Mrs. Gordon House, Joe Carroll Robinson, Mary Ann Robinson and Johnny Simms.

Mrs. Roscoe Davis' second grade was entertained with an egg hunt at Mrs. Blasdel's followed by refreshments of drinks and cookies served by the room mothers, Mrs. C. R. Nester, Mrs. J. J. Rason and Mrs. O. W. Parker.

Janie Sue Sanford has withdrawn from this class and moved to Helena, Montana.

Next the Easter bunny took Mrs. Usery's third graders to the home of Mrs. Hancock where he hid eggs for them and enjoyed the "after-hunt" refreshments of pop, cookies and candy.

Easter vacations are in the foreground in Mrs. Goodman's third grade. Sally Foster visited in Childress, Earnie Joe Pond journeyed to Lubbock and Pat Pond spent the holidays in Arizona.

Nelda Petit has moved into town.

Mrs. Cousins' fourth graders made a jaunt to Mrs. J. D. Pruett's where they held their egg hunt. Assisting Mrs. Pruett with the hunt and refreshments were Mrs. E. T. Zachry and Mrs. C. L. Key.

This class is working with paper mache, making picture frames and modeling.

Mrs. Brasher's fourth graders were visitors at the home of Mrs. Iverson Leake for their egg hunt. Sandwiches, cookies and pops were served by the room mothers, Mrs. R. D. Wheelock, Mrs. T. C. Westfall, Mrs. Harold Byars and Mrs. Leake.

Geraldine Bacon, a member of this class who is confined to her bed, sent a live white rabbit to be used as a prize in the egg hunt.

Baseball furnished the entertainment for Mrs. Walsh's fifth graders at their Easter party. The room mothers, Mrs. L. K. Bolton, Mrs. Lloyd Childers and Mrs. Clem Dugan served cookies and drinks.

Mrs. A. G. House was a visitor for the occasion.

A little toy rabbit given as a prize for finding the prize egg was the topic of conversation following the egg hunt at Mrs. E. A. Michael's by Mrs. Jones' fifth grade. Mrs. Herschell Coffee, Mrs. R. A. Neblett, and Mrs. Michael served the class a picnic lunch.

A skating party and a picnic lunch made up Mrs. John Davis' sixth grade Easter activities.

Mrs. Iverson's sixth graders took sack lunches to Ed Money's for an Easter picnic. They played baseball after lunch, which was served by room mothers, Mrs. Root and Mrs. McAtee.

Ben Guill, of Pampa, Announces For Congress

Ben Guill, 40 year old Navy Purple Heart veteran and Pampa businessman, has announced his candidacy for Congress in the special election on May 6. Guill is the only Republican in a field containing ten Democrats. The high man at the polls will be elected Congressman without a run-off.

Guill, who has lived in the Texas Panhandle for 31 years, is married to the former Marjorie Buckler, of Pampa. They have a nineteen month old son.

Why a Republican

Guill, a graduate of West Texas State College and a former teacher in the public school system in the Panhandle, said he was running as a Republican because "I am opposed to the Socialistic policies of the present administration and the only honest way I know of fighting the Socialistic theories of the Santa Claus boys is to join the other team.

"I have no intention of telling the people of the Panhandle that the Republican Party is perfect or all virtuous. It is nothing of the sort. I merely think there is more Americanism to the square inch in the Republican party today than among the Socialistic leaders who have cold-bloodedly stolen the party of Jackson, Jefferson, Calhoun and Wilson away from the people."

Was a Democrat

Guill, who was an independent Democrat until now, is strongly in favor of reducing income taxes. He is bitterly opposed to socialized medicine. He wants the government to stop dictating to the farmer about what, and how much, he can raise, and he believes the Panhandle cotton farmer was given a "raw and heartless deal" in the recent setting of quotas.

"I am the son of a farmer," Guill said. "I believe the farmer is the backbone of the national economy. I'm sick and tired of hearing pink little bureaucrats tell the farmer what he should do. It's high time the farmer tells Washington what ought to be done. The farm problem should be settled by the farmer himself and if I am sent to Washington as Congressman from the Panhandle I shall bring with me a farm program which embodies the wishes and the ideas of the Panhandle farmers themselves."

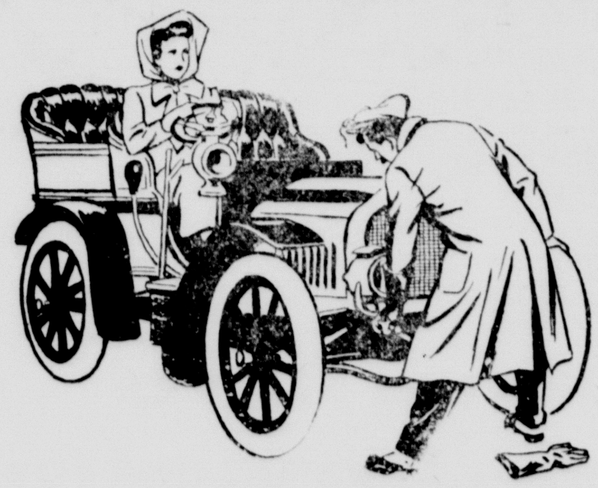

BEN GUILL

Chances Good

Guill, who has thousands of friends and former students in the Panhandle, is given an excellent chance of winning the special election. With the votes split among ten Democrats, it is estimated that he will be elected if he receives as many votes as Frank T. O'Brien, the Republican candidate for Congress in 1946 received in his race against Gene Worley. If he gets half as many votes as Jack Porter, the Republican candidate for the Senate in 1948, received in the Panhandle he will be an easy winner.

Guill won the Purple Heart in combat in the Pacific. He went through seven amphibious landings and earned four battle stars. He is a member of St. Matthew's Protestant Episcopal Church in Pampa, is a director of the Pampa Rotary Club, the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is waging one of the most vigorous campaigns in the history of Panhandle elections.

IMPORTANT PEOPLE!
WHO IS IMPORTANT?

E. T. BURK
FOR CONGRESS

E. T. Burk, leading candidate for Congress, says:

"Nearly all of us have children. Some of us have grandchildren."

"And how we love them! How we pray for peace, freedom, well-being for them. We are ready to fight for them and their welfare."

"And we have senior citizens who are important and who have hard-earned rights. Just because a man or woman has a few gray hairs is no reason that he or she should be put on a shelf and marked off the list."

"Nothing else has hurt me more than the knowledge that many of our senior citizens have been kicked around as political footballs. I oppose this. I abhor it. I am the only candidate who has promised to fight the battles of senior citizens, and I will keep that promise. All senior citizens can count on E. T. Burk, Candidate for Congress, Amarillo, Texas."

THERE IS NO DOUBT . . . .

That E. T. Burk is the leading candidate. Burk CAN win! Never before have the senior citizens had such a wonderful opportunity to have a true friend in Congress. Pass the word on!

And . . . .

Prisoner Magazine Raps 'Crime School' Programs on Radio

WETHERSFIELD, CONN.—Since the following came, it might be said, from an authoritative "voice of experience," it well might be heeded by parents, officials and everyone concerned:

"I object! I vehemently object! I get glassy-eyed with anger and my trigger finger jerks spasmodically every time I think how the radio crime-presentation industry operates its debasing crime schools."

The writer said he had listened to 50 radio "crime" programs in two weeks, one of which "gave details on how to snatch 75 G's worth of diamonds," while another "showed how to case a bank for a 50-G stick-up."

Also included, he said, were programs which "told how to blackmail recently widowed women out of 5 and 10 G's apiece," and gave "details on a 40-grand kidnaping plot, with a little murder and extortion thrown in."

Calling radio crime presentation "the most blatantly debasing and most crime-inducing factor with which the American listening public has to contend," the writer-inmate turns to television and asks:

"When they get television so good that half-congealed blood drips onto the nursery floor, will you still allow it? Will you still think it is thrilling?"

The foregoing was from the Monthly Record, published by inmates of the Connecticut state prison and circulated "outside" and was contained in an article entitled "15,000 Murders a Month," which was written by an inmate of the prison.

Dad Stands Incredulous When Held up by Own Son

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—Arthur Dunlap couldn't believe it really was happening when his son thrust a revolver in his face and demanded his money.

Incredulous, he asked: "you'd stick up your own father?"

The son, Arthur, Jr., 20, stilled any further doubts about it when he shouted an order:

"Drop your billfold!"

Dunlap, a 62-year-old barber, took the wallet which contained $55 from his pocket, dropped it to the floor.

His wife, Lottie, 50, started up from her chair. "Don't fool us with that gun, son," she said, hoping it was a joke.

But her son turned the gun on her and she sank back. He stooped, picked up the billfold and with his companion, a stranger to the parents, walked out of the house and his parents' hearts.

Dunlap went to a phone and called police. "My son robbed me," he said, simply. "I didn't think he had bad in him."

Ghost of Highworth Rd. Returns After Exorcism

BRISTOL, ENGLAND. — "Mrs. It," the ghost of 13 Highworth rd., is back again—with a playmate.

Only recently the haunt was exorcized by a Church of England vicar in a religious rite to drive away spirits taken from early Cristian records.

The peace of No. 13 was short-lived. Mr. and Mrs. William Baber, who live in the house, say the ghost now does a nightly routine up and down the stairs with an unidentified partner. Sometimes it sounds like they're dancing, sometimes like wrestling.

The Baber theory is that the original ghost—which they named "Mrs. It"—is that of a woman who died in the house 18 years ago. "Mrs. It" first began prowling around the place in December.

The vicar, the Rev. Francis Maddock, went through a rite of exorcism after a month of nightly uproar at No. 13.

One night the Babers called in a spiritualist. All they found out is that "Mrs. It" (1) speaks a foreign language—possibly Russian — and (2) is an atrocious speller.

A ouija board was used to see if she had any message. What came out was "EEHFHMEV."

Try Dancing if Putting Child to Sleep Difficult

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. — Gene Nelson, movie dancer, started dancing bedtime stories for his baby a year ago. He didn't know what he was getting into.

"Now I have to dance wake-up stories for him," Nelson said, "and also feeding stories, bath time stories and dressing stories. Not to mention putting him to bed with a dance, too."

This is a highly specialized type of child training and Nelson can't recommend it to every parent. But it's very successful for him.

"Other parents envy me," he said, "When I tell them I can get the little guy to sleep just by running through a rehearsal of the dance I have to do the next day."

It gradually took more and more of papa's pas de deux, however, to get baby to sleep. Then he started working in "Rosie O'Grady" and dancing all day.

"I was a pretty tired father by supper time," he said. "I began to wish I'd stuck to something conventional, like singing lullabies."

Inter-European "free trade" proposals of I. C. C. lauded.

Health Officer in High Praise Program Texas Newspapers

A highly placed state official has given Texas newspapers a pat on the back.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, veteran of more than 13 years as head of the State Department of Health, called the Texas press a "more potent force in mass public education," and said his department invariably turns in that direction as the first means of reaching the people with information on health subjects.

"Texas newspaper editors and reporters have consistently shown an awareness of public health problems and have given unstintingly of much valuable space to stories relating to public health," Cox said.

"I can define public health in three words—mass public education," the health officer said. "Without newspaper cooperation, such education is literally an unobtainable ideal."

Pointing out the custom of rural people to read their local weekly or semi-weekly thoroughly, Cox said he was especially happy that these papers used state and local health department releases.

"It's one of the most valuable services a paper can render its readership, but then maybe I'm a bit prejudiced," he observed.

Radio is an especially valuable outlet for information relating to venereal diseases, Cox indicated, because of the availability of professionally prepared recordings on the subject. More than 100 Texas stations have used the recordings during the past year.

On the same theme, Dr. Cox said well over 600,000 persons have seen the Department produced motion picture short subject "What's the Disease?" in which syphilis information is presented.

DOWN TO EARTH APPRAISAL

A city boy and a country lad were walking down a street. Coming toward them was a product of the beauty parlor — permanent wave, scarlet fingernails, drugstore complexion and gaudy lipstick.

"Now what do you think of that?" asked the city boy.

The farm boy looked carefully and observed: "Speaking as a farmer I should say that it must have been mighty poor soil to require so much top-dressing."

All are lunatics, but he who can analyze his delusion is called a philosopher.—Ambrose Pierce.

Majestic mountains and placid valleys! These catch the eye and stir the imagination... symbols of power and of fertility.

Rugged peaks and lush meadows however do not exist for themselves, or even for stirring our love of the beautiful. They serve the tiny lily which climbs from the dark earth up into the sunlight of God. Mountain and valley are servants of the purity and the loveliness of the flower. Out of the rock the Divine Gardener gathers rich minerals to be pulverized into life-sustaining soil; down the crevices and the canyons run the rivulets and the creeks which carry the moisture to quench the thirst of growing things; matted earth catches and protects the seed until it can feel the call of the warm sun for its growth up into light and unfolding glory.

The valleys of ancient Canaan were a riot of color in the springtime, shouting to the man with eyes to see that God was walking His earth and every path was checked with anemones and iris and tulip and cyclamen and daisies. Acres of color and of fragrance testified to the presence of the Lord of Life. The anemones or windflowers may well have been the 'lily of the valley,' dear to the heart of the Master; they carpeted the land in "brilliant reds or delicate pinks, purple, white, blue and cream." "Even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

Look at the purity and the beauty of the lily; see the care and the love of the beautiful which mark our God; know too that the same good God is seeking by every ministry of grace to bring purity and loveliness to flowers in the human gardens of His love. Your life is of more value than is any 'lily of the valley' and your purity and gracious kindness of soul bring greater joy to His heart than does any flower of the field. You are to grow forever under the watch-care of the loving Creator. Will you keep your heart pure and your soul sensitive? Will you respond as naturally to the ministries of divine Love as the lily answers the call of sunshine and of shower? Then attend your church and support her good work.

UNSWEET MUSIC

After her boy friend had eaten dinner, danced to be-bop and departed, the teen-age daughter confronted her portly father—often criticized for his fast eating—and said:

"How you embarassed me at dinner, Dad. I swear the way you went after that corn on the cob, you looked like a mouth harp player practicing scales."
